It's high in antioxidant and loaded with Catechin, both of which fight free radicals, helps protect against UV and boosts overall skin quality . Traditionally, matcha, which is a powdered tea – is brewed in a ritualistic ceremony using a bamboo whisk and stone bowl . It's whipped into a frothy, creamy, rich brew and sipped directly from the bowl. Rather than sipping tea leaves, when you ingest Matcha, you are eating the entire tea leaf. Our Matcha Grade A green tea powder is made to an exacting standard of quality, allowing you to participate in the traditional tea ceremony – but you don't have to. You can also enjoy our Matcha Grade A through a more modern preparation of your choosing. Matcha has been cherished by Zen Buddhist Monks for close to 1,000 years! And now, you can make this rich creamy textured tea part of your own routine. Start capitalizing on it's amazing health benefits for yourself.
